

Prophetic Excuse
Lyrics by David Saul

I walk alone
With no sins in mind
There is no doubt in me
That's not who I wish to be
I'm free to be
Who I choose to be
There is hypocrisy
In what you preach to me

Your faith is blind
But I can see
Your doubts lay deep within
Disguised in all your sin
You look at me
Like I'm a lesser man
You claim to have perfection
Yet you carry an infection

Always silence
For my science
I'm just the same as you
I have the right to choose
You can't alter my perception
That faith is just deception
What's your prophetic excuse?

I walk alone
No one to guide my way
My actions are my own
It's needless to atone
And still you try
To force your view
On what the young should learn
Before they can discern

It's hard for you
To accept my ways
That's when I'm reminded
That you are just weak minded
Your faith is blind
But I can see
You claim to hold perfection
But you're spreading an infection